

There are only 2 state parks in San Juan County. One at Indian Creed where they have pit toilets and tell the tourists not to drink the water. Goodnecks state park has pit toilets but there is no culinary water. The State Parks and Recreation does enforce on the water litter laws.

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT

The BLM has been identifying possible problems although at this time there do not seem to be a lot of them. The BLM has been sampling springs and collecting samples but the state lab has done the lab work. There are no ambient stations that he knows of.

WILDLIFE RESOURCES

There is no monitoring being done.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

Soil Conservation Service practices conservation practices on private lands. Allen Ogden asked if Sediment control is a problem. He stated that in this county there is little return irrigation flow that contaminates the water. They use the Universal Soil Calculations.

Bryant Christensen wanted to know exactly what the State Division of Health wanted from these agencies.

They want a letter from the Agency stating what the agency was doing, what problems if any, what are the Agencies doing about these problems. What are the agencies going to do with the land in the next two years. And what management practices are the agencies going to practice to meet the State standards.

There will be another meeting of the Technical Advisory Committee in April.

Meeting adjourned.

The Commissioners are against the Canyonlands Wilderness Area. The commissioners are glad to cooperate with the park service but they are dissatisfied because the Park Service has not kept their promises. The BLM people asked the following questions: What is the county D-system and When does the county have to apply for an easement. They discussed the B-roads as they are found on the maps and these are quite accurate as to their location on the maps. The D road system will have to be mapped and Commissioner Black suggested that Lynn Adams, Doug Pehrson, and some BLM men get together and map out the D-roads. The definition of a D-Road is any road that existed as of 1976.
